Dololo’s story

Dololo was found collapsed on his side in a muddy pool, unable to get back on his feet with only his tiny trunk raised above the waterline for breath.

He was so frail that the rangers who found him knew he needed emergency care immediately if he was to survive. Thanks to antibiotics, lots of bottles of warm milk and blankets to ward off the cold, provided with donations and monies raised through fundraising, Dololo has come on leaps and bounds and beginning his reintegration journey back to the wild.

In this pack, we’ve included ideas to get your fundraising started, a guide on how to set up your fundraising page, a checklist on how to plan your event and how to gain publicity.

With your help, we can save more wild lives today and secure habitats for the future!
Every penny counts

Here’s what some of our fundraisers have done for Kenya’s wildlife....

£15 can ensure the younger elephant orphans stay warm with a blanket.

£55 can fund an SWT/KWS De-Snaring Team for one day to keep threatened wild animals safe.

£200 can fund a Mobile Veterinary Unit for two days.

£800 can fund the care of an orphan elephant for an entire month.

“I had a brilliant day and knowing I was raising money for the SWT made it all the Better!”

Take on a physical challenge

Running and cycling events are fantastic ways to raise vital funds for wildlife.

There are lots of physical challenge events to choose from, sponsored runs obstacle races, cycling sportives to mud runs, but knowing that you are pushing yourself to save wild lives will spur you on to reach your fundraising target.

Every mile you run, cycle or even crawl through, and every penny you raise will go towards protecting Kenya’s precious wildlife and, crucially, will help us to be there for any elephant or rhino that tragically becomes orphaned or injured.

Online fundraising pages are the best and easiest way to start raising funds and awareness, as well as gathering support for your big challenge - find out how to set up your online page by turning to page 7 of this booklet.

Through your fundraising, every single person who sponsors you will learn more about our life-saving conservation work and, on race day, you’ll be seen by hundreds of people wearing our logo!

To help keep you motivated when the going gets tough, we can provide you with:

- Tips on making your online fundraising page stand out
- Training guide to help you prepare physically for your challenge
- SWT running vest (or even elephant suit!) so that you stand out from the crowd
- Regular encouragement and fundraising tips from the SWT UK team

Fundraising challenges offer a massive sense of achievement so, if you want to ‘do it for elephants’ and feel like a wildlife hero, contact our Fundraising Team about taking on a physical challenge.

TOP TIP
Challenge fundraisers who create an online fundraising page and have a fundraising target raise up to 6% more!
Here’s who we’ve helped so far.

More than:

244 orphaned elephants successfully hand-raised

156 orphaned elephants have returned back to a life in the wild

2,596 wild elephants have been treated by our Mobile Vet Units

With your help, we can do more to save Kenya’s wildlife
Make a plan

Planning is key to a successful and FUN fundraising activity. Here are our top tips.

Save the date
Make sure you’ve got enough time to plan and your event isn’t going to coincide with any others in your local area.

Find a venue
If you need to book a venue, check availability, capacity, facilities and things like parking and access. You might be able to book a school, community hall, church or public park for free or at a discount, if you mention that your event is for charity.

Share the load
Events often take more time to organise than you think. Recruit friends, family and volunteers to help you plan and on the day.

Create an online fundraising and sponsorship page
Online fundraising is a simple and easy way to ask for sponsorship money and we recommend using Virgin Money Giving or JustGiving to create yours. You can reach out to more people by sharing the web address of your sponsorship page via email, Facebook and Twitter.

Remember, you can still collect fundraising money by using our sponsorship form to hand out to friends and family. If possible, encourage people to Gift Aid their donation. This means we will receive an extra 25p on every £1 they donate - at no extra cost to anyone! Importantly, givers must be UK taxpayers in order for us to claim Gift Aid.

Spread the word
Tell everyone! Use social media to share the link to your fundraising page, or publicise your event, to generate interest and remind people right up until the end of your fundraising event that they can support you.

TOP TIP
As soon as you’ve decided on what you are planning, let us know. It’s a requirement that we know of all public events being held in the SWT’s name.
The big day
Make sure you have enough helpers for your event to run smoothly and:
- Check safety and security plans are working well
- Let people know who and what they are raising money for
- Take lots of pictures that you can share with friends (and us) afterwards
- Watch all your hard work come together and enjoy yourself!

Post event follow-up
Thank everyone who has donated, as well as your volunteers and sponsors. Write a letter or email and let them know what you were able to achieve with their help, what this will mean directly to Kenya’s wildlife and how it will help support our other conservation projects.

Paying in your money
Once you have collected together the money you have raised, please send us a cheque to Sheldrick Wildlife Trust, 2nd Floor, 3 Bridge Street, Leatherhead, KT22 8BL. Or, you can send us the money via bank transfer; just contact us to find out the details. Importantly, both methods ensure that none of your hard earned money is subjected to any fees.

If you set up a Virgin Money Giving or JustGiving page, they’ll send us the funds direct.

Your Event Checklist

Save the date
- Do you have enough time to organise everything?
- Does it clash with any other local events?

- Is it within budget?

How to publicise your event

If you are fundraising or taking part in a sponsored event, getting publicity will help attract the crowds and raise money.

Newspapers and Radio Stations
Contact the news desk of your local or national newspaper or radio station and explain what you are doing and ask for the name of a journalist who handles these stories so that you can send them a press release. Use our sample to help you write your press release and, if you have invited your local Member of Parliament or a local celebrity, make sure you mention this as it is one way to create interest in your event.

If a reporter or photographer decides to attend your event, you’ll need to make sure that someone is prepared to talk to them to offer them a quote. If you send your press release after your event, include pictures of your event, the total that was raised and a quote.

Hand out posters and leaflets
Display posters and leaflets in local shops, pubs, libraries, at work and anywhere else you can think of 4-6 weeks before your event takes place.

Sample press release

Health and safety

Here is some important information to answer your questions and keep your fundraising safe and legal.

What if I want to create my own promotional materials?
Include the SWT's logo and registration number (Charity Number 1103836) on all promotional materials, including letters, posters and press releases you create yourself. Send us the materials before you hand them out so that we can make sure they comply with fundraising rules. Always make it clear you are fundraising on behalf of the charity, rather than as a charity representative.

Does the SWT have insurance that covers events?
The SWT cannot accept responsibility for any loss, damage or injury that results from your event, and our insurance does not cover the property of the venue nor anyone attending. It also does not cover your personal liability for any injury suffered by yourself or anyone else at your event. We recommend that you make sure your event is adequately insured. Please contact us for further advice, or if you have any concerns.

Can I carry out a collection for the SWT?
Make sure you use the SWT collection boxes when doing collections. If you plan to carry out a street collection or sell goods in a public place you will need to get permission and a permit from your local authority.

What are the legal requirements for holding a raffle?
If you are holding a raffle you don’t need a licence as long as you sell the tickets and draw the raffle during the event, and only within the venue in which your event takes place. If your situation is different you may need a licence – please contact us and we can help organise this.

Tickets must not be sold to, or by anyone, under the age of 16. If you are holding a raffle and have a single prize worth more than £200 or you are selling tickets prior to the date of your event, you may need a licence.
